Achieving the last year of the project goals achieved

The project's first completed output - the preparation of the ECVET curriculum "Management of Apprenticeship Programs for SMEs" - was accomplished under the care of the Portuguese partner who took care of all the development phases and collated all partners research to develop the final iteration of the curriculum.

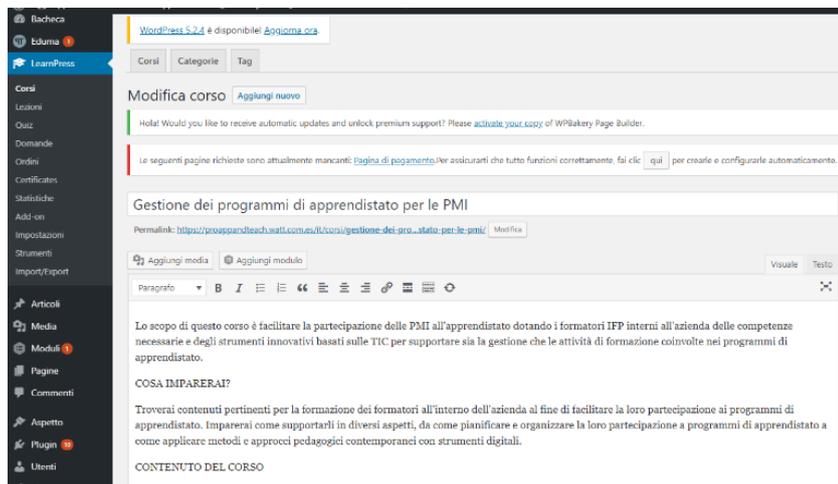

The completion of the second output - "Training Modules on the Management of Apprenticeship Programs for SMEs" - provided a range of highly useful and practical learning modules to support both face-to-face and online (as part of a blended approach) training. This output was accomplished under the care of the Greek partner who managed the editing of the various modules from all other partners.

The Third project output resulted in the creation of the development platform for the production of the "APP & TEACH Mobile Instructional Learning APPS". This innovative output consists of a "Mobile APPS Generator" which allows users to create their own bespoke learning apps via a user-friendly browser interface, which learners can then access via their mobile or tablet device. This output was accomplished under the care of the English partners.

The fourth project output - the "APP & TEACH Multilingual eLearning Platform" - has produced an online platform, available in eight languages, which houses the online iteration of the App & Teach" Training modules. The full course is available in a free format and can be used to access and deliver training based on the modalities envisaged in the respective countries. This output was created and managed by the Spanish partner with learning material and support provided by all partners.

All partners are also currently involved in the realization of the fifth output - the development of the "APP & TEACH Set of Mobile Learning APPS", designed to support the project's target audience in the creation of a range of customized ICT solutions and educational programs tools adapted to the circumstances and particular needs of the beneficiaries of the project. This output is being overseen by the Italian partner with all partners engaging in this own iteration of this process in their respective countries.
